SAAR MAY BE ONE DANGER SPOT IN EUROPE SITUATION

If People Vote for Hitler, the Cause for War Will Be Removed

HAS BIG COAL DEPOSITS
Population is 823,000 People and Coal Wealth is 16 Million Tons

(Note: The Saar, a tiny speck of land lying between France and Germany, may furnish one of the danger spots of "Will War Come," H. R. Knickerbocker writes in the twenty-eighth article of his series. If they vote for Hitler—as seems certain—the residents of the Saar will remove that territory as a cause of war but if they should vote against him that strip of land may easily become one of the chief reasons for immediate hostilities.)

By H. R. Knickerbocker

SAARBRÜCKEN, Mar. 15.—(INS)—The Saar is a speck of land seven-tenths as large as the smallest American state, Rhode Island. It lies between France and Germany. It contains sixteen billion tons of coal and 823,000 people. In 1935 they will vote for or against Hitler. The way they vote may decide whether Europe will go to war sooner or later.

If they vote for Hitler there will be no war over the Saar. If they vote against Hitler the Saar could move up to place No. 1 in the list of possible causes of war on this continent. The chances, estimated in this capital city of the Saar today, seem to be better than ninety per cent that a majority of the population will vote for Hitler.

But not only the election contains the possibility of serious trouble. The campaign may prove just as dangerous.

It has just begun. A huge swastika banner floats down from a house on the main street of Saarbrücken. In the window of the house Adolf Hitler looks out from a picture that frames him as a saint. Next door a bookshop flaunts a cartoon that frames him as the devil. Crowds from the Nazi camp trade glares with crowds from the anti-Nazi camp.

The Nazis call the anti-Nazis traitors. The anti-Nazis call the Nazis beasts. They are ready to mutilate each other today. By the time election day comes they may be ready for murder. If murder starts, French troops may be asked to come keep order. If French troops come, if French troops had to shoot, what would Germans do? Of all the worried men in Europe none are more anxious today than the Saar authorities.

The "Saar question" has ceased to be a Franco-German question. It requires a trip to this tiny territory to realize that the conflict here is purely an internal German conflict. It is a conflict over Hitler.

Adolf Hitler was unknown to the makers of the treaty of Versailles. When the paragraphs concerning the Saar were written, the present chancellor of Germany was a lance corporal just demobilized, and casting about Munich for a political toehold.

So the treaty makers wrote that because the German army had destroyed the coal mines in northern France, the Saar coal mines should go to France. The Saar territory would cease to be a part of Germany for fifteen years. It would become a customs and currency unit with France. It would be governed by a commission of the League of Nations. The mines would be counted as worth 300,000,000 gold marks on the sum Germany owed France for reparations. At the end of fifteen years the population would vote. If they voted to return to Germany, France would re-sell the mines to Germany at a price fixed by one French, one German and one neutral expert.

Every person above twenty years old, and who had lived in the Saar at the time the treaty was made, will be asked to answer: "Do you want the Saar to remain as it is, under the government of the League, and in customs union with France?" or "Do you want the Saar to become a part of France?" or "Do you want the Saar to return to Germany?"

Until January 1933, the result of this plebiscite was a foregone conclusion. In the whole Saar there are perhaps 8,000 French employees of the mines and a scattering of other French families. German is the only language heard. The architecture, food, atmosphere, people are emphatically German. Ten minutes' motorcar ride away the hotels in France serve tournedos and wine. Here they serve kalbsbraten and beer. The distance from Saarbrücken to the French border is a step but that step measures all the distance between the Latin and the Teuton.

FIND STOLEN CAR ALONG ROAD NEAR PENNSBURY

Machine of Dr. George T. Fox Found With Its Contents Intact

WHEELS WERE LOCKED

Two men representing themselves as ex-service men who had just received their bonus are believed to have stolen the automobile of Dr. George T. Fox on Tuesday night. The car was taken from in front of Dr. Fox's office on Radcliffe street.

The car with its contents of two robes and a case of physician's instruments was located last night near Pennsbury. The car was not damaged.

The two men knocked at the door of the residence of James Purcell, near Pennsbury, the site of the country home of William Penn, along the Delaware near Tullytown, and told this story:

"We got our bonus about two weeks ago and we bought a car of Thomas Collier, Bristol. The car is out here with the wheels locked and we will leave it here, until we can get Mr. Collier to come for it."

Purcell, believing the story of the men, offered to drive them back to Bristol but they said Tullytown was far enough. He drove them to Tullytown.

It was about 11:30 p. m.

That was all that was thought about the car by Purcell who went to his employment, the next day. Last night at about five o'clock one of his children informed him that the car was still down the road and that it was a doctor's car. The case of instruments valued at $200 was taken into the Purcell house. Mr. Purcell called Dr. H. Doyle Webb of Bristol to inquire if a Bristol physician had lost a car and was informed that Dr. Fox's car had been stolen. Dr. Fox and Dr. Webb went to the scene. The spot where the car had been left was almost impassable being hub deep in mud. The key to the machine was gone and the wheels locked. Both Dr. Webb and Dr. Fox worked for hours in an effort to get the machine free but were unsuccessful. The car is not damaged and the contents had not been disturbed by those who stole the machine.

The car was first missed by Dr. Fox at about 10:45 Tuesday night. The theft of automobiles from the streets here continue. Yesterday afternoon the automobile of Charles LaPolla was stolen. Mr. LaPolla was in the hospital of Dr. J. Fred Wagner, where his son is ill. When he came out of the hospital the car was gone. This makes the fourth machine stolen here in the past month.

Achieve Something Unusual In "Girl Without A Room"

Something unusual has been achieved in Charles R. Rogers' "Girl Without A Room" which will be shown tonight and tomorrow at the Grand. It is a gay melange of fun but the romance supplied by Charles Farrell and Marguerite Churchill, is fresh, appealing and believable though it occurs in the midst of the giddy, mad setting of the Montmartre district of Paris.

Charlie Ruggles, Gregory Ratoff, Grace Bradley and a quartet of goofy Russians set a mad comedy pace. Walter Woolf, the latest find from Broadway, makes his debut and seems destined to be a new heart throb for young America femina.

The story is hilariously funny, but if we remember our newspaper reading it is perfectly true. Farrell is a "nut" artist who paints what he feels and not what he sees, and gets into a mess of trouble and notoriety by winning a contest with his painting hung upside down.

"Girl Without a Room" is from Jack Lait's novel, and has been directed with swift pace by Ralph Murphy. The sparkling dialogue is by Frank Butler and Claude Elyon.

Lindbergh Declines To Serve On Super Board To Study Army Air Corps

Washington, D. C., Mar. 15.—Spurred in his efforts to enlist Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to serve on the super board to study operations of the Army Air Corps, Secretary of War George Dern today he had telegraphed the noted flier to reconsider his refusal to accept the appointment. In his telegram refusing Dern's invitation, the Colonel took occasion to lambast the administration a second time for cancellation of the air-mail contracts held by commercial companies, and ordering the Army Air Corps to carry the airmail. Lindbergh is technical advisor for one of the companies whose contracts were suspended February 19th by Postmaster General James A. Farley. Dern announced today the super board, headed by Major General H. A. Drum, deputy chief of staff, would proceed with its work despite Lindbergh's action. He said he planned to invite other "aeronautical experts" to join the committee but declined to name the parties he was considering.

Philadelphia, Mar. 15.—George M. Applegate, 59, prominent cotton and wool broker, died early today in a hospital of a self-inflicted shot in the right temple. Applegate, whose home was in Doylestown, shot himself last night in his office here. His brother, David, of Churchville, Bucks County, told police he had been despondent over domestic troubles. A year and a half ago his wife sued Margaret Sharrat, a nurse of Chestnut Grove, for $25,000, charging Miss Sharrat had broken up the Applegate home at Kirklyn, Delaware County.

QUAKERTOWN TEACHER IS AGAIN ATTACKED

Miss Mary Stever is Found Dazed in Plumsteadville Woodshed

HER 2ND EXPERIENCE

PLUMSTEADVILLE, Mar. 15.—Upon going to his woodshed at his home about a mile and a half west of this village yesterday, Harvey M. Wismer, found there a woman in an apparently dazed condition who he recognized as Miss Mary Stever, aged about 35 years, a teacher of English in the Quakertown High School.

State Trooper Joseph Davey, of the Doylestown sub-station, who was called to the Wismer home, was told by Miss Stever that Tuesday evening she had been calling at the home of Isaac Ruth in Quakertown and that as she left the Ruth home to return to her boarding place two men grabbed her, forced her into her car and drove away with her.

Miss Stever stated that she was unable to identify the men, but she recalls having seen a trolley car.

Trooper Davey later succeeded in locating Miss Stever's automobile on the Three Mile Run road off the Bethlehem Pike. This is about 12 miles from where Miss Stever was found.

In the car were Miss Stever's personal belongings, including her hat, purse and spectacles. She told Trooper Davey that she was unable to place how she arrived at the Wismer place.

Dr. George M. Brewer, Plumsteadville, who examined Miss Stever, stated that in his opinion she had not been injured. D. Horace Diehl, at whose home Miss Stever had been living for a number of years, arrived at the Wismer place and took her to his home.

Miss Stever several months ago was found in a dazed condition near the Diehl home. At that time she told State Troopers that she had been robbed and that, after her articles had been taken, the men accosting her had forced her into her car. She claimed at the time that she had been thrown into the Tobickon Creek, near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Diehl.

Apparently recovered, Miss Stever a few days later resumed her duties as a teacher in the schools of Quakertown.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR REV. VOORHIES, D. D.

Rev. S. Brooks Knowlton and Others Officiate at The Services

MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES

EDDINGTON, Mar. 15.—Words of comfort and messages of hope were brought to the bereaved family and congregation of the late Rev. William S. Voorhies, D. D., when funeral services were held for the deceased pastor at the Eddington Presbyterian Church here, this morning.

The Rev. S. Brooks Knowlton, pastor of Bristol Presbyterian Church, officiated at the service at 10:30, and his message was based upon the words of the Master, "In my Father's house are many mansions, I go to prepare a place for you. If it were not so I would have told you." In the pulpit with the officiating clergyman were the Rev. Arthur F. Gibson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, the Rev. Leslie Kiefer, who has been pastor of Cornwells Methodist Church; and the Rev. Andrew George Solla, pastor of Bristol Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour. Other clergymen who participated in the funeral for the late Doctor of Divinity who died suddenly on Monday, were: the Rev. Robert Frazer, Philadelphia, blind evangelist, who on Sunday concluded a week of evangelistic services at the church of which the Rev. Voorhies was pastor; the Rev. Henry Cunningham, Langhorne; the Rev. Frank Everett, of Cranbury, N. J., a classmate of the deceased.

For a period of one-half hour previous to the funeral service, friends were permitted to view the remains of their late leader in the parish room. Many also called at the Manse last night.

St. Patrick's Ball To Be Quite An Event; Fri. Night

Tomorrow night, St. Patrick's eve, the annual Patriotic Ball of St. Mark's, will be held in St. Mark's auditorium.

The committee has been working very hard to make this ball surpass last year's snow dance, which is well remembered by dance lovers.

In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, green is the predominating color in decorations, being offset by white and gold.

The windows and doorways are hung with white and gold draperies, while the ceiling is draped with green punting. The stage is nearly completely hidden by a huge green shamrock from which radiate hundreds of streamers going to the sides, forming a cone of many colors in which the orchestra plays.

The walls are gayly decorated in various drawings and cut-outs of well-known characters and of objects of old Erin, symbolic of St. Patrick's Day.

The lighting system is unique and a change from former dances in the hall in that no lights are directly exposed to view, all being covered with shades of white and green in the shapes of high silk hats.

But all is not as is modern, for after a fast fox trot or swingy waltz the orchestra will dream into the strains of a square dance or the catchy air of a schottische. The committee has selected a well known floor manager to direct the old fashioned dances.

Girls will receive a favor of a shamrock tied with a yellow ribbon; men a clay pipe with green bow.

The music is by a well-known musical organization of Trenton, which has quite a reputation in Bristol, having played in St. Mark's on former occasions.

MOTORIST IS GIVEN VERDICT OF $52.36 FOR CAR DAMAGE

Mrs. Rex Brown, Doylestown, Wins Out in Suit Over Accident

MARKS GETS VERDICT

Suit Was Brought by Hazel and William Rumpf, Langhorne

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 15.—Mrs. Rex Brown, formerly Miss Margaret High, of this place, was awarded damages amounting to $52.36 by a jury in Civil Court here on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Brown was the owner of a car which her husband, Rex Brown, was operating on the Lackawanna Trail, near Jenkintown, on April 2, 1933, there was a collision with a truck driven by John Orr, who is employed by the Supplee-Willis-Jones Milk Company, the plaintiff in the case.

Mr. Brown, who is employed by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, was on his way to work when the accident took place.

Taking the stand in his own behalf, Brown told the Court and jury that the truck swerved into his path in attempting to make a left-hand turn and that he was forced to turn into the north bound traffic lane in order to avert a head-on collision.

The Brown's car was damaged to the extent of $52.36.

Additional witnesses for the defendant included Horace High, former Doylestown garageman; his daughter, Mrs. Brown, and Frank Adler, Edison garageman, who made the necessary repairs to the defendant's car.

A verdict for the defendant was returned Tuesday in Civil Court in the case of Hazel Rumpf and William Rumpf, Jr., of South Langhorne, against Mortimer Marks.

The defendant was sued for damages as a result of an automobile accident on the Lincoln Highway near Morrisville, on January 14, 1932, when the plaintiff's car upset with four occupants.

Judge Keller charged the jury in the case of John Michael Feehan, executor of the last will and testament of Mary Leathert, late of Bristol, deceased, against Thomas Leathert, of Bristol. The suit was brought for $400 damages.

The following cases have been continued for the term: Lewis Keller against Milton P. Miller (appeal); Milton Moore, to the use of Commercial Credit Company, against John Reith (replevin); William D. Gordon, Secretary of Banking against Franklin S. Taylor (assumpsit); Bessie E. True against Chauncey E. Stoneback (trespass); Robert T. Bair against Raymond F. Bucks and Gertrude M. Buck, his wife (assumpsit); A. C. Werner against Branch Storage Company, Inc. (assumpsit); W. R. Goodwin against Max Potashnick and William Potashnick (assumpsit).

The following cases have been settled: The School District of Doylestown, to the use of Anna Bigley and Harry Bigley, Adams, of Oscar H. Bigley, deceased, formerly tax collector of Doylestown, against David J. H. Douglas (appeal); James Casserly against Helen P. Jemison (trespass); Anna Streissel against Helen P. Jemison (trespass).

Claiming damages as the result of an automobile accident on the Doylestown-Quakertown highway, Anna F. Stover, of Keller's Church, the plaintiff in an action of trespass, versus Ralph L. Foshenberger, went on trial this morning before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

PROPAGANDA

The reason given by the Democratic national committee for withdrawing from publication a review of the administration's first year, that it wished to avoid "partisan propaganda," would carry much more weight if this attitude generally was one of noticeable prominence in the higher circles of the party.

It might be asked, too, why did the committee fail to feel this lofty impulse before going to the expense and trouble of preparing the handbook? One may wonder if it felt a little disappointed—or that the country might feel a little disappointed—in the number or definiteness of the achievements set forth in the review. Did it, contemplating how they would look in cold type as compared with some of the Democratic platform promises, suddenly feel a repugnance to "partisan propaganda"—certainly, an attitude never before taken by a Democratic committee or politician.

The more remarkable becomes the committee's action when it is remembered that Mr. James Farley, postmaster general and patronage dispenser extraordinary, is chairman of the national committee. The postmaster general, who in addition to this and his other posts, generally is recognized as chief political adviser to the president, never has shown that he had any scruples against making use of partisan propaganda. He has been held up, though, as one of the nation's shrewdest politicians. Did he think that better propaganda purposes might be served by the excuse given for suppressing the booklet than would have the latter and the paucity of constructive acts it must have contained?

To represent the Democratic party as having no other purpose than that of serving the common welfare might make a favorable impression upon persons more given to believing the claims of politicians than to doing independent thinking themselves.

Spreading partisan propaganda has been the chief activity of Mr. Farley since his name was entered on the public pay rolls. He has traveled from one end of the country to the other in doing this, using time which belonged to the taxpayers who were paying him to perform the duties of postmaster general. These trips have been marked with speeches studded with the most partisan form of propaganda.

He has not been the administration's only propagandist. Others high in party councils and many of lesser rank have lost no opportunity to engage in this work.

GOOD NEIGHBORS

Formerly a good neighbor was a quiet and peaceable fellow who minded his own business, and did not quarrel with the folks around him.

But we demand something more than that now. The habit most valued now in a neighbor, is the disposition to keep a good looking home place. If his house and grounds are orderly and attractive, his place adds to the value of all those about him. If his place is the reverse, it detracts from the value of all its surroundings.

Naturally people are very anxious for neighbors who maintain a place that is a credit to the neighborhood.

The dogs of war would keep quiet if diplomats weren't so catf.

Funeral Services Held

For Rev. Voorhies, D. D.

Evening. Floral pieces were numerous, these being testimonies of esteem from relatives, members of the congregation and other friends. The casket was covered with a floral blanket.

Opening prayer was offered by the Rev. Solia, and the Rev. Kiefer, and the Rev. Gibson read portions of the Scripture, the former using as part of his offering the 23rd Psalm.

"Sunset and Evening Star" was read by the Rev. Knowlton, as the organist, Mrs. Gertrude Kirk, played the musical accompaniment. The Rev. Frazer offered prayer, giving thanks for the blessing which the deceased pastor acknowledged from the evangelistic services of the past week.

Sympathy of the Philadelphia North Presbytery, of which the late minister was a member, was voiced by the Rev. Cunningham, of Langhorne. "He was a quiet, placid character," said the Rev. Cunningham, "but was most faithful in the performance of his duties. He has now passed from the Church Militant to the Church Triumphant."

Words of assurance uttered by Christ as He faced Gethsemane and the Cross were read by the Rev. Knowlton. "He faced his trial with assurance of victory. 'Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world,' were His words, thus predicting His victory. The faith of Him whom we call Master is confident assurance of His God. . . . 'In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you. If it were not so I would have told you.' We can put our trust in Him."

The Rev. Knowlton added, in referring to the deceased minister, "His life speaks in his own praise. For over 40 years he quietly and unpretentiously labored in the cause of the Master. . . . His life was quiet, his translation was beautiful."

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Everett.

Following a viewing at funeral parlors in Frenchtown, N. J., this afternoon, a brief service will take place at the grave in that city, at three o'clock.

The pall-bearers were elders and trustees of the Eddington Presbyterian Church, namely: Henry W. Moore, Charles Wood, Arthur G. Wilkinson, J. William Simons, Isaac Jones, and Alvin T. Lippincott.

The late Rev. Voorhies had served as pastor of the church here for 11 years. He was a graduate of Lafayette College, and had previously attended Lawrenceville Preparatory School and Princeton Seminary. He was 72 years of age.

Saar May Be One Danger Spot In Europe Situation

The Rhineland ahead of time, had persuaded him to give up the Saar also. But Stresemann died. And three years later Hitler came. Immediately the 100 per cent German population of the Saar divided on the Hitler line.

Today nobody of any importance in the Saar is campaigning to make the Saar French. But thousands are campaigning to make it stay under the League. They are social Democrats, Catholics, Communists, Jews, everybody who has something to lose by becoming a citizen of the third Reich.

Before Hitler, 90 per cent of them would have voted for Germany. Today they don't want France. Their vote will be less for the League than against Hitler.

Their campaign is hot and bitter. It is not more hot and bitter than the campaign of the Hitlerites to return the Saar to Germany. On their side the swastika men have a heavy advantage: "Traitors," they cry to the opposition, "can't win in the long run. If you vote against your Fatherland, wait until the Saar is German again and see what happens to you."

Election day is already called the "day of reckoning." Every issue of the anti-Hitler organs makes it plain just what "reckoning" may mean. Every description of the life in a Nazi concentration camp is meant to persuade the voters to choose life under the League. But in the dead of night, under the blankets, comes the thought: "What if I vote against Germany and my side loses?"

On the swastika side are 15,000 young men who have been to Germany and have been trained in the so-called "labor service camps." They have returned first-class, disciplined storm troopers. By election day it is estimated there will be 25,000 of them, very good ballot box watchers.

GENTLEMEN PREFER BEEF LEONARD?

Lose Fat Safely and Quickly

Kruschen Salts—in perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body should possess to function properly—purify your blood of harmful acids, and aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material—the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat.

But don't worry just as long as you have Kruschen Salts. Take a half teaspoon every morning before breakfast in a glass of hot water—little by little that ugly fat disappears, you'll feel better than ever before—years younger, more energetic. You'll soon possess that enviable beauty, clear skin, sparkling eyes, superb figure which only perfect health can impart.

An 85c bottle (lasts 4 weeks) at any progressive drugist in America. Money back if Kruschen doesn't convince you that it is the safest, quickest, easiest way to lose fat. (Adv.)

The Swastika side is united. Against them, the opposition to Hitler is as variegated and divided as it was in Germany. The Hitlerites, marching under the so-called "German front," use the audacious propaganda that proved so successful in the Fatherland. They boldly announce: "We will get 99 per cent of the votes."

The anti-Hitlerites modestly declare: "We have a chance to get a majority."

Between these two camps totalling more than 800,000 persons daily hurling lethal threats at one another stand only 1,000 police at the disposal of the league governing commission and the majesty, the power, or the bluff if you like, of the league. And what would happen if the Nazis took Austria? Could 1,000 policemen, 60% of whom are Nazi, hold the Nazis in the Saar?

Not only Hitler, but certainly the league itself, and probably most of Europe except France, would welcome it if the Saar today could be turned over to Germany, the rights of its political minorities be secured, and the secondary economic question of the purchase price of the mines agreed upon. Hitler has demanded it. Vice-Chancellor von Papen, Reich's commissar for the Saar question, has declared that if the Saar were to be retained by the league it would be a serious menace to peace.

This is obvious. Germany would never be reconciled to losing their plainly German territory. Of all the mistakes in the Versailles treaty none has turned out to have more explosive possibilities than the Saar. At the time it seemed a sensible way to recompense France for her destroyed coal mines. Today it seems a potential danger of the first magnitude. It creates the possibility of war at a moment when France has given every indication she does not want war. If she wished a provocation for the "preventive war" she could arrange for it in the Saar overnight. Without wanting it she may get it.

If by any turn of fate, the Saar should after all vote against Germany, the results would be incalculable. As one diplomat put it, it would be a catastrophe. Social Democrats here say that if Germany gets the Saar she will use it as a springboard to leap into Alsace-Lorraine. Hitler, on the other hand has declared that if the Saar question were settled there would be nothing left for Germany and France to quarrel about. That remains to be seen, but it is plain that the only advantage France could ever have had from the plebiscite was early in the game when she could have traded the Saar to Germany for some concession.

Today the French are still holding the Saar as a card, but it has become a deuce. Germany is virtually certain of winning a majority vote. Yet Hitler would like to avoid the possibility that a considerable number of Germans outside of the immediate power of the third Reich's instruments of political persuasion might vote against him. He would like the prestige of regaining the Saar earlier than the treaty provided.

The anti-Hitlerites would like to prove their strength, and they and the French would like to deal a blow at Hitler's prestige. Neither achievement would affect the ultimate issue between France and Germany. For the sake of a pinprick at their opponent the French appear willing to allow a genuine potential cause of war to develop into a menace for the whole world. They say they cannot abandon the political minorities in the Saar to the mercy of brown-shirted storm troopers. That however will be the problem of the league. Already the league's special commission is working on a treaty to be offered Hitler wherein he would guarantee the lives and limbs of his political opponents here. Whatever guarantees are given, the Saar will certainly discharge into France another flood of refugees when the Reich takes control.

Yesterday Danzig was the problem child of the league. Today it is the Saar. But the best hope of keeping the peace here is the example of Danzig. Hitler showed he could control his storm troops there. By doing so he kept the Polish army out of Danzig. His control over the storm troops here may keep the French army out of the Saar. That is a good chance, but the only guarantee for peace here would be settlement before the plebiscite. That could only come in the framework of a general Franco-German understanding. Probabilities point to no settlement. The Saar plebiscite today seems assured, another milestone on the way to trouble.

RECIPES

If you are one of those who observe the Lenten period of "fast and abstinence" you're probably glad that you no longer have to rack your brains to find meat substitutes, or maybe you haven't followed Lenten rigors at all.

In any case you are certain to welcome the many delicious new vegetables and fruits that are daily making their appearance in the markets, and eager to take advantage of the "Easter Specials" featured at this time.

In planning your Easter Dinner you'll probably choose one of the two meats that tradition associates with this day—a succulent whole boiled or baked ham or a tender, juicy leg of lamb. Upon your choice depends the selection of the balance of your menu, of course. Here is a menu that features baked ham as its high note.

Chilled Tomato Juice
Green Onions and Radishes
Whole Baked Ham
Sweet Potato Surprise
Baked Spinach
Pear Salad
Finger Rolls
Apricot Fluff
Coffee
Baked Ham

1 ham
2 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
Few tablespoons water
1 dozen whole cloves
Bread crumbs

Soak ham overnight in water. Pour this water off. Cover ham with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Simmer until ham is tender. Allow to cool in the liquid in which it was cooked. Remove excess fat and tough skin. Make a syrup of sugar, mustard, vinegar and small amount of water.

Stick cloves in ham and score into squares with a sharp knife. Pour sauce over the ham and cover sides with bread crumbs. Bake, basting with the syrup until delicately brown in a hot oven.

Sweet Potato Surprise
2 cups sliced sweet potatoes
1 egg, beaten
Dash of pepper
8 marshmallows
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup crushed cornflakes.

Boil and peel potatoes, put through ricer. When partly cool add egg, salt and pepper. If the mixture is too dry add a little milk. Flour hands if necessary. Form 8 round balls with marshmallows hidden inside. Roll in corn flakes. Fry in hot fat until brown. Drain on soft paper.

Ford V-8 WINS AGAIN!

Over 50,000 people see Ford V-8 prove its superiority over all others in the Los Angeles Road Race

A STRICTLY STOCK CAR RACE SUPERVISED BY AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION

THE FORD V-8 WINS AGAIN. Again it comes in first in a grueling road race.

On August 26, 1933, the Ford V-8 won the 200-mile Elgin Road Race for stock cars. Sunday, February 18, it won the 250-mile Invitational Gilmore Gold Trophy Road Race at Los Angeles.

This race was open "to any stock car in America with a piston displacement of 300 inches and under." That meant every low-price car and practically every medium-price car could enter.

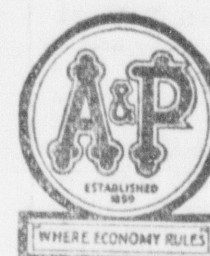

But they couldn't match Ford V-8 performance. It left them all far behind. 50,000 people saw the Ford V-8 win over a treacherous track. 27 cars were entered.

On every road—in every test of performance and reliability—the New Ford V-8 shows the same outstanding superiority that brings it home in front in back-breaking, nerve-racking, quality-testing races at tremendous speed.

REDS HAVE A TOTAL OF 52 NOW IN CAMP

By Davis J. Walsh
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 15—(INS)—Among the delightfully informal and altogether appealing institutions hereabouts are the Cincinnati Reds who seem to be training here largely by ear and devoting four hours a day to it. Nevertheless, the Reds appear to be going some place although Mr. O'Farrell, the new manager, may not know exactly where—except out of the cellar.

He was appointed too close to the training season to know just what he has yet but he's been a little fortunate. He knows what the Phillies and Dodgers haven't got. Mr. O'Farrell says, not without some justice, that he can always beat a couple of "nothing" clubs.

After looking over the dining room tabs, he feels he has reason to state that the Reds do not at all resemble nothing. Almost certainly a record for these times, the Reds have fifty-two men in camp, many of whom are even known personally to the manager. If you think that's funny Mr. O'Farrell doesn't. He looked up from his mail the other morning and there stood two abashed young men, wishing an audience. He thought they were insurance salesmen but that was his mistake. They were two members of his entourage he'd never heard of. So much for informality.

Now for facts, namely: the Reds have at least one side of an infield, Bottomley at first base and Tony Piet from the Pirates, at second. Mr. O'Farrell cannot comprehend how the Pirates happened to let Piet go. He thinks Piet is the best second baseman in the league, not barring Frisch. On the right side, he has any number of candidates, some of whom are even fair.

He has "Sparky" Adams; Mark Koenig, from the Cubs; Tom Rabello up from Rock Island; Walter Bohl from the same place, and Leslie Mallon, from Toronto, for third base. Mallon, who failed with the Phillies, seems to have the job now. Adams having reached the stage where time has, indeed, aged and custom staled a variety that was never quite infinite, at that.

For shortstop, there is Koenig and also Gordon Slade, who came up from the Coast League and has since been trying to make good as a utility infielder. Also Joe Morrissey, with last year's Reds, and George Wise, up from Topeka. Mr. O'Farrell likes Wise, and that's funny, so do I. He's a gangling youth who moves around swiftly and gets the ball away fast. Mr. O'Farrell also likes Bowl. Otherwise, the law is very lenient. It says you don't have to like any of last year's Reds, including Morrissey.

Others he likes are Al Hollingsworth, a left hander from Rock Island, where he won 15 and lost 9; Francis Ambrose LaVegue, a "cartare" purchase from Berkeley, Cal., and Arthur Charles "Dazzy" Vance. The latter is only 41—according to the statistics—and is just starting in, according to Mr. O'Farrell, who said today:

"He's going to surprise everybody. 'Except me,' he added, hastily. Hollingsworth, it seems, is a fast ball left hander with control. This means the difference between nothing and everything. LaVegue, big but fast, is one of those gents who come along all too seldom. A catcher, he throws well, hits well and apparently knows the time of day. The other catchers are Ernest 'Protuberant' Lombardi, and Clyde Marion. Also Jack Albert Croner is about to set forth upon a long journey.

The outfield is simple, the pitching most complicated. They have eighteen pitchers in camp—that they know about. Not to tax Mr. O'Farrell with too great a strain upon his imagination, I asked him to name the four best and said he:

"Larry Benton, Paul Derringer, St. Johnson and Arthur Charles Vance." His outfield is Adam Comorosky, from the Pirates; Chick Hafey ("The best outfielder in the league"—O'Farrell); Johnny Moore, from the Cubs, Happy Rise and Joe Gill from Chattanooga.

OUT OF THE MASS GROUP INTO THE CLASS GROUP

... for a few dollars more a month!

The 2-Door Sedan—List Price at Pontiac, Michigan, $725*

The whole ideal of American life is built around the philosophy that tomorrow must be better than today!

Day after day, we hear people say—"I'm so glad I decided to purchase a Pontiac Eight! It is such a satisfaction to feel that we have something more than mere transportation."

This extra measure of satisfaction, of course, is strictly a plus value when you buy a new Pontiac Straight Eight.

For, purely on the basis of what the car itself provides—it is the most logical car in America for anyone to buy.

First of all, Pontiac is a big car—with a wheelbase of 117 inches—and big, roomy bodies by Fisher.

It is powered by the great Pontiac "Speedway Eight" engine—one of the finest motors in use today.

It rides, with its new "Knee-Action" wheels, with amazing comfort on any road.

And, finally, it is one of the two most beautiful cars in America today—absolutely regardless of cost.

Certainly, it's a pleasure to own the new Pontiac. For it is unmistakable that the man who drives a Pontiac has gone out of the mass group into the class group.

And yet—it costs practically nothing to take this step. When bought on time payment, the difference between the cheapest cars and the Pontiac is frequently not more than a few dollars a month.

Come in for a demonstration of the new Pontiac. Let us show you how easy it is to step up to "Straight Eight" ownership!
